DAMAGE TO ROAD IS PROTESTED BY JOHNSON GROUP

Overweight Trucks,
Reckless Driving
On KY-172 Are Cited

FLAT GAP, KY. — Around 75 citizens of the Flat Gap area met Monday evening with various Johnson County officials, including the Johnson County Judge and sheriff, to protest destruction of KY-Route 172 in Johnson County by allegedly overweight trucks hauling coal from strip mines in adjoining Morgan County.

A spokesman for the citizens' group, Walter McKenzie of Flat Gap, said the group also is "concerned about certain isolated instances of reckless driving on the part of the truckers."

McKenzie said the group hopes to meet soon with truckers in an effort to work out some kind of compromise agreement whereby truckers can continue to operate, but in a safer manner and in a manner less detrimental to the highway.

The trucks are hauling strip-mined coal from two operations in Morgan County, where a Paintsville newspaper who toured the area, termed the condition of KY-172 as "deplorable."

The two strip mine firms are Tripple Elkhorn Mining Co., headed by Harry B. Ranier of Prestonsburg, which is stripping coal from ridge-top seams on the right fork of Straight Creek, and the Borders Coal Company, headquartered in Lawrence County, which is stripping coal along a ridge between Cincas Creek and Smith Creek in the eastern part of Morgan.

The Ranier company is having its coal transported from the right fork of Straight Creek over to the head of Laurel and down the Laurel Creek road to KY-172 west of Crockett, thence to the C&O railroad at Van Lear.

The Borders company is hauling its coal down Smith Creek to KY-172 just west of Relief, then to Kentucky Power Company's electric plant near Louisa.

McKenzie said reckless driving on the part of some truck drivers was to blame for several minor traffic accidents in recent weeks, and said Flat Gap parents are concerned about possible danger to school buses which must travel the road when schools open later this month.

Agents of the Motor Transportation Department investigated complaints of overweight coal trucks in the area June 22 and cited 19 trucks in Morgan County for weight violations.

LAWRENCE TURNER OF JACKSON WINS HOMECOMING GOLF TOURNEY

Williams and May Tie
For Second; Class of
'46 Wins Morgan Cup

Lawrence Turner of Jackson shot a fine five over par 75 Sunday to easily outdistance his nearest competitors and win the Homecoming Golf Tournament at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

After Saturday's qualifying round was completed, Archie Williams, Henry May, and Bob Plummer seemed to be the main contenders for the championship, based on their superb qualifying scores. A course record was set by Archie Williams, with a medalist-winning score of 71. Henry May and Bob Plummer were close on his heels with 74's. However, these three could not maintain their torrid pace on Sunday, and Turner took full advantage.

The other golfers who qualified for the Championship Flight were Bernard Murphy, George Scott, Newt Coop, Wayne Webb, Ray Mitchell, and Ken Blanton.

Archie Williams and Henry May tied for second place honors with 81's. Williams prevailed in a sudden-death playoff for the trophy.

The other flight winners who each received a trophy were:

1st Flight, Lindy Amix.
2nd Flight, Lynn Nickell.
3rd Flight, James Hietart.
(Beat James Elam in playoff.)
4th Flight, Fred Blair.
5th Flight, Orville Cole.

In the class competition for the "Morgan Cup", the class of 1946 took the honors. The winning class was represented by Henry May, Parker May, and J. W. Cecil.

RECORD RAINFALL RECORDED AT WEST LIBERTY IN MONTH OF JULY

July rainfall at West Liberty measured a record 13.02 inches according to Arnold Heltton, local reporter for the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Heltton said that a review of past rainfall statistics for the month of July showed that the heaviest rainfall for that month until this year was 4 inches which fell in 1967.

Rainfall in July of last year measured 2.11 inches, Heltton said.

More than half of last month's record rainfall fell on the weekend of July 17 and 18, Heltton said, when 4.88 inches fell in a four-hour period late Saturday and early Sunday and an additional 1.32 inches fell that Sunday afternoon.

Normal annual rainfall for West Liberty is 44 inches. Heltton pointed out. Statistics show that in 1970 a total of 42.88 inches of rainfall was recorded. The total rainfall through July of 1970 was 21.82 inches, he noted, as compared to a total of 33.05 inches recorded in the first seven months this year.

The July 17-18 storm caused $1 million damage in Morgan to crops and croplands alone, but generally heavy rainfall throughout the area has caused additional damage to barley, tobacco and garden and hay crops.

Ashland, also hit hard by flooding July 17-18, reported about 7 inches of rainfall during July and Lexington reported about 8 inches, Heltton said, by way of comparison.

SENATOR ASKS INVESTIGATION OF STRIP MINE ADVERTISEMENTS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — because of drainage of mine acid and other pollutants and the fish stocked in the lake have never prospered.

The Bethlehem Steel ad, Hart noted, said, "Every acre surface mined by Bethlehem is promptly and effectively restored . . . open to more beneficial use than before it was mined."

But Hart sent the FTC pictures from a site in Millstone, Ky., which he said was worked by Beth-Elkhorn, a Bethlehem Steel subsidiary. In response to public pressure, he said, the company decided to make Millstone "a model of reclamation."

But Hart said the pictures showed "weeds barely hiding slate, boulders, mud and branches but no trees to hold back slides—which have occurred."

Another, he said, claims a fishing and swimming lake was created out of a stripped area. Actually, he said, the lake is closed to swimming.

PROPOSED NEW WATER TREATMENT PLANT WILL COST $1 MILLION

Const. Cost Have
Climbed $200,000
In Five Years Said

The West Liberty City Council at its monthly meeting Monday evening discussed the possible necessity of establishing higher water rates to help finance future construction of a proposed new water treatment plant and water system expansion, but postponed a decision until a later date.

The discussion stemmed from information obtained at a meeting last week with representatives of Spalding Engineering Co. of Hazard at which time council members were informed that cost of the proposed treatment plant would be around $200,000 in excess of the previously anticipated construction cost of $800,000.

The engineering firm, which prepared plans for the water plant about five years ago, recently was authorized by City Council to update its plans and explore avenues for obtaining federal construction grants. The town currently qualifies for 50 percent grants under existing federal guidelines, but the council, the Gateway Area Development District, and the engineering firm hope that 80 percent grants may be available.

Spalding representatives said the $200,000 increase in construction costs is a result of inflation in the national economy.

If additional federal grants can not be obtained an upward adjustment in local water rates will be necessary to finance the project, a council member stated.

The banquet was held in the auditorium of the Wells Hill Elementary School and was prepared by the ladies of the White Oak Christian Church. Following the banquet a dance and reminiscing by former students took place in the auditorium.

Earlier in the day, around 100 homecomers were guests at a coffee given by the Banks Circle in the Christian Church basement, and in the afternoon the traditional reception for homecomers was held at the home of Ms. C. K. Stacy.

A Homecoming Golf Tournament was also played at the Pleasant Valley Country Club Saturday and Sunday with a trophy, presented by Commercial Bank, being awarded to representatives of the school graduating class with the best cumulative score. (See story elsewhere in this edition.)

Walter Franklin of West Liberty acted as master of ceremonies at the banquet and Dr. Alec Sencer introduced the speaker, Coach Hall, whose talk was well received.

Dr. Peyton also was honored for his courage in undergoing heart surgery a few years ago which enabled him to return to his medical practice after a debilitating heart attack. And he was commended for his dedicated service to his profession and to the people of his home county.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Too many commencement speakers have been telling graduating classes they should go out and fight the world. Better advice would be to go out and try to get along with the world.

Publicity, like fire, can be friend or foe.

Mary Jane Scaff Lacy was born December 29, 1890 in Portsmouth, Ohio and died July 17, 1971 at her home in Cannel City, Kentucky. At the time of her death she was eighty years, six months and nineteen days of age.

She was the daughter of William and Melsena Jefferson Scaff and leaves one living sister, Bertha Clegg of Cleveland, Ohio.

She was married to William Preston Lacy November 13, 1908 and to this union the following children were born: Steward Lacy, Lawrence Lacy, Daisy Jones, and Blanche Lacy all of Cannel City, Rex Lacy, Preston Lacy of Dayton, Ohio, Bobby Lacy of New Paris, Ohio, Bertha Holt of Cincinnati, Ohio, Cozetta Lewis and Gay Light of Franklin, Ohio.

She has 33 grandchildren, 14 great grandchildren and 1 great-great grandchild.

In 1938 Sister Lacy professed a hope in Christ and was baptized and lived a consistent Christian life until death.

She and her husband, Preston reared their family around Cannel City. They were blessed to live through part of the "Coal Boom" when jobs and money were not strangers at Cannel City, but after the mines were closed down work and jobs became scarce in this section of the county, it was then that many of the former citizens of Cannel City moved away to other places to find employment but it was not so with Mr. and Mrs. Lacy they remained with their beloved home. They were not the type to give up, they looked for employment and they found work. They toiled on until they reared a family of twelve children to be grown-up men and women. Sister Lacy, like most other mothers, did more than to help feed and clothe her children, she reached deeper into their lives and tried to mold them to respect their fellowman and to love and be loved by all mankind. In the garden of our memories there she leaves a memorial of some of her rich qualities, which are deeply and firmly engraved. These qualities of kindness, humbleness, sincerity, devotion and love shall linger, and though she has fallen with the millions before and is now in the number with all eyes; yet through memories she shall continue to speak to us, and her words shall help to guide our feet to an endless rest.

TWO FROM MORGAN CO. ON DISTRICT WINNING MOREHEAD LEGION NINE

By Bobby Smedley

The Morehead team, coached by MSU mentor Sonny Allen, clinched the District 9 American Legion Tournament held at Morehead by downing defending Champ Ashland, 15-5, last Thursday.

The Morehead nine, which had a 3-0 record in district play, journeyed to Shelbyville Monday to meet Corbin in the opening round of the sectional tournament.

Elam, who graduated from Morgan County High in the spring, is a catcher and has been doing a fine job filling in for All-State catcher Gary Cisco. Elam is batting .230 and has done an excellent defensive job, his coach says. He plans to enter Stetson University in Florida this fall.

IN MEMORIAM

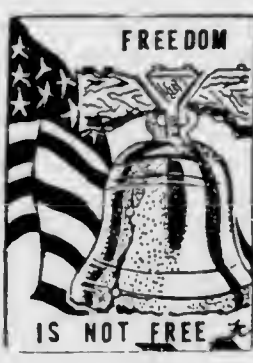

In loving memory of our mother and grandmother, Dyaney Collins, who has been gone six months today, July 29 — God needed another Rose for his palace, beyond the blue, but He left our homeplace so lonely six months ago, when he picked you.

We miss you by the day, and even by the hour we see you in every wheelchair and picture you in every flower. For mother's like you don't really die. They just keep house up in the sky and in that heavenly home above they wait to welcome those they love.

Mama in a far off distance, we see you standing on Heaven's golden shore.

COMBS SAYS HE IS NOT BITTER; PLEDGES FORD HIS SUPPORT

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 29.—Former Gov. Bert I. Combs sat by the side of Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford at a Democratic rally here Wednesday night and pledged to help the Democratic ticket in this fall's elections.

Combs, who was defeated by Ford for the Democratic nomination for governor in a bitter primary race this spring, said, "I've never been able to afford the luxury of bitterness or holding a grudge, and don't think this is the philosophy of the Democratic Party."

The former governor added, "This election is more important than any one individual or any one group."

CANDIDATES RESPONDS

Ford, in turn, warmly praised Combs at the standing-room-only 3rd Congressional District Democratic rally. "He (Combs) was a great governor. He made great progress. He had innovative programs."

Combs' appearance at the rally was viewed as politically significant in that the Kentucky GOP has hoped for a division of Combs Democrats and Ford Democrats.

Combs noted that much national political attention is focused on Kentucky's gubernatorial election because it is the only such two-party contest in the nation this year.

"If by some misfortune Kentucky should go Republican, it would be a strong step in support of the election of a Republican president (in 1972)," Combs said. "I and all my friends are going to do all we can to prevent that."

"We are 2 to 1 Democratic in Kentucky, and there's no reason why this state shouldn't go Democratic, and I am confident and I predict it will go Democratic."

CARROLL BLASTS GOP

House Speaker Julian Carroll, D-Paducah, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor and Combs' running mate during the primary, delivered a fiery oration criticizing the Republicans.

"Louie Nunn is one of the meanest, ornierest Republicans you ever saw in your life and don't think for a moment he's going to be a pushover," Carroll said. "He's serious about naming his successor."

Ford also heaped coal on the heads of the Republicans, asserting that the state GOP "is going to spend $5 million the current election."

Ford said the spending would be futile because "Kentuckians are not for sale."

Ford said the 3rd District rally "is the first of a series of meetings we plan all across Kentucky in the next few weeks."

COUNTY AGENTS NEED YOUR HELP WITH IMPORTANT HORSE COUNT

Morgan County Extension agents have been asked by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to make a count of all horses in this county.

If you own a horse, pony or mule, please call or write the Morgan County Extension office and report it so your animal will be counted in this important national survey.

A national horse count is being made in connection with the recent outbreak in Texas of VEE (Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis), a "sleeping sickness" of horses, according to Dr. Gary Potter, horse specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture's Cooperative Extension Service. The survey is part of USDA's effort to protect horses throughout the country.

"VEE doesn't appear to be a threat in Kentucky at this time, and we want to keep it that way," Potter says. "The quarantine and vaccination of horses in Texas and surrounding states seem to have stopped the spread of this horse disease."

"However, USDA wants to know how many horses would have to be vaccinated if VEE should later spread to other states. For this reason, the Cooperative Extension Service—represented in each county by county Extension agents—has been commissioned to make this count of horses in all counties of the United States.

"An exact count is important—and the county totals are needed as soon as possible," Potter emphasizes. "So we're asking the cooperation of anyone who has information about the horses in his county."

If you own a horse—or any animal of the other equine species, please let your county Extension agent know about it as soon as possible. And if you are connected with the horse industry or have any information about the horses in your county, please give your Extension agent all the help you can in making this important horse count, Potter suggests.

The Extension office is located at The Morgan County Courthouse. The phone number is 743-3184.

Perry Officials Indicted By Jury

HAZARD, July 28.—A Perry County grand jury Tuesday indicted three officials and chastised others who do not take their work seriously.

Jailer Arnold (Grapevine) Whitaker, Property Valuation Administrator Roy Johnson and Magistrate Ben Woods were cited for different instances of neglect.

The jury said Whitaker neglected his duty, Johnson failed to keep his office open to the public, and Woods became intoxicated.

Bond was set at $1,000 in each of the cases by Judge Don A. Ward, who said trials would be in September or November.

"The grand jury feels any public official who is elected to office should feel grateful enough to work in their office, to be of service to the public," the jury said in its July report.

The other two could not be reached, but Whitaker called the indictment "just a bunch of politics."

NEW APPALACHIAN BILL INTRODUCED IN U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON.—Legislation to fund the Appalachian Regional Development program was resubmitted to Congress Tuesday.

Nixon vetoed an Appalachian Bill several weeks ago, saying he objected to an Accelerated Public Works program tacked on to it.

The Senate failed to override the veto last week.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., and Rep. John A. Blakely, D-N. Y., reintroduced the Appalachian bill which is almost identical to the first bill but without the public works program.

The new bill would extend general provisions in the 13-state Appalachia region four years highway construction five years. It would also fund the Economic Development Administration to help curb unemployment.

Handolph said, "I anticipate that the measure will be passed by both houses before the summer recess so it can be signed into law by the President who has endorsed both of these important programs."

Summer recess begins Aug. 6.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

TAXES THEN AND NOW

Running through some old family papers last week, we found a July 26, 1870 issue of the Central Methodist, a newspaper of general circulation published at Catlettsburg, Ky., for many years, by Zeliah Meek — a fine newspaper printed on part-gate paper. In a column of state and national news we came across this paragraph—

"The returns of collections of taxes are all in at the United States Treasury, and from these it is learned that the receipts for the last fiscal year (1870-71) were $274,034,916."

Now, 92 years later, the federal tax take is so big we don't know how much it is. But we do know that Kentucky's state taxes are bigger than all U. S. taxes in 1879. Just two weeks ago the State Revenue Department of Kentucky announced that receipts for the state's general fund and road fund last fiscal year totaled $820,802,338—or three times the entire federal tax receipts of 1879. General fund receipts in Kentucky totaled $568,333, 697 and road fund receipts totaled $272,468, 651. But in addition, Kentucky agencies received a few hundred million from the federal government, enough to make a total of $1,234,397,622 of state income for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

But in 1879 things were in a pretty bad way. For instance, it was reported in the same column that yellow fever was epidemic in the South, particularly in Memphis, New Orleans and Texas, and that "people are moving out of the cities by the thousands."

Also, that the Governor had declared a quarantine in Texas because of the epidemic, "and business as a result is at a standstill."

CORFAM
EASY CARE. For normal care, just wipe with a damp cloth or sponge. Regular shoe polish may be used to heighten shine.
LONGER LASTING GOOD LOOKS. CORFAM holds its shape, keeps a trim top line, resists fading, stiffness or cracking under normal use.
WATER REPELLENCY. Uppers of CORFAM repel outside moisture. Help keep out dampness. Even "Napped CORFAM" won't permanently water spot, and colors won't rub off.
LIGHTER WEIGHT. CORFAM is up to 1/3 lighter than comparable fine shoe upper materials.
